radical films at a-spire squatted social centre Sunday 7th and 14th December

sunday 7th

1pm - Boom, the sound of eviction. The story of the dot.com boom in San Francisco and subsequent gentrification of the city's Bay Area.
4pm - The End of Capitalism. A fascinating hour-long documentary in which Michael Hardt and Toni Negri (authors of Empire) discuss globalisation, anti-capitalist protest, 'immaterial labour', new ways of doing politics, and the power, creativity and collective intelligence of the multitude (amongst other things!) Leeds May Day Group will lead a discussion on the issues raised in the film.

sunday 14th

1pm onwards - An afternoon of films including; They Live, Panthers and Microcosmos.

A collection of short films
