

On 20/04/2011 two South-West activists were unjustly arrested and charged for squatting a derelict building in Taunton, Somerset; with the intentions to promote squatting as an alternative lifestyle, providing a centre in which social groups and communities can use and a potential base for Taunton Activist Collective groups, and most importantly being open to those to whom squatting is becoming a necessity.

SOLIDARITY WITH THE TAUNTON TWO

12-05-11

The police broke into the secured building using angle grinders, and even arrested one of the activists on the street, acting as a legal observer. The activists were charged with the intent to cause criminal damage, burglary and abstracting electricity. The lack of evidence to support these charges further incriminates the police for unnecessary use of force and intimidation to evict the squatters from their rightful home.

The case has an indirect impact on the South-West Anarcho-Punk scene, with a member of Anonymous Promotions coming under attack. This could be a potential threat on the non-profit organisation and even the increasing Anarcho-Punk movement itself. We need resistance!

FIGHT THE SQUATTING BAN. NOW IS THE TIME TO RESIST
